

Kent Station

Kent Station is located in the north end of downtown Kent on the Burlington Northern Santa Fe Railway trackway. The station includes a bus island used by ST Express and King County Metro Transit, a parking garage and public art integrated throughout the station.

Mode

Commuter rail

Highlights

Construction completed:

Station completed: 2001

Parking garage completed: 2003

Location: First and Railroad avenues, and Smith and James streets in Kent

Public art

Thanks to the City of Kent Public Art Program and artist Cheryl dos Remedios, Sounder riders can enjoy "Daily Migration," a series of sculptures that serve as gateways at the north and south edges of Kent, visible from the train.

